

- Movies can be from one or more genre. Hence many to many relationship is used. Same for rating, except a movie can have zero rating if it has not been rated yet by anybody yet.
- Theater can schedule many shows for a particular movie. But a show must have atleast one movie. And at some times for a particular movie there could be no scheduled shows.
- Theater can allocate tickets for scheduled shows,. A ticket would be for one and only one show., but there could be zero more or tickets for a particular show.
- There would be one to many relationship between customer and booking. Also a booking can be for one and only customer.
- In a particular booking, customer might have bought more than one ticket.
- A booking can also get a concession.